

Four Orientation Types

Acknowledging we may rely upon many, if not all these orientations, as well as others not identified here, which orientation might be your primary modus operandi? Or one that you might like to try on and masquerade with for awhile?

1. the Intellectuals: intellect-philosophizing – searching inwardly, through a mental state
2. the Lovers: devotional-loving – searching inwardly, through a state of the heart
3. the Doers: action-doing – searching outwardly, through behavior
4. the Mystics: mystical-meditating – searching inwardly, through a physiological state

From one's orientation, seek to engage and respond to the varied issues and topics of class discussions and questions accordingly.
