Dr. Stoll gave an invited Paper: Character and Leadership: Musings of a Weathered Athlete for the Hometown Lecture series, at the City of Lewiston Public Library, April 22, 2014. The 17 page paper reviewed the three variables that affect the development of character and leadership: role models, environment, and education.

Dr. Stoll was invited by the National Association of Sport and Physical Education to sit as a grant reviewer for ING RUN FOR SOMETHING BETTER SCHOOL AWARDS. The ING program has awarded close to five million dollars in grant funds over the course of the past five years. Dr. Stoll has been on the grant review board for four of those years.

Dr. Stoll had an invited paper accepted for publication at Quest. The primary purpose of Quest is to publish manuscripts that address issues and concerns relevant and meaningful to kinesiology and physical education in higher education.

Brad Dieter published an article, Immunotherapy and metastatic cancer: Tread carefully at Evolutionary Health. This article, discusses the issues with the current theory behind the mechanism of metastatic cancer and presents evidence for re-evaluating current novel immune-based therapies for treating metastatic cancer.
