Brad Dieter submitted a proposal for a review article titled, "Nrf2 signaling in Type II Diabetes Mellitus: A Multistage Approach to Targeting Nrf2 in Diabetes" to Diabetes Care. Diabetes Care is a journal for the health care practitioner that is intended to increase knowledge, stimulate research, and promote better management of people with diabetes. To achieve these goals, the journal publishes original research on human studies in the following categories: Clinical Care/Education/Nutrition/Psychosocial Research, Epidemiology/Health Services Research, Emerging Treatments and Technologies, Pathophysiology/Complications, and Cardiovascular and Metabolic Risk. The journal also publishes ADA statements, consensus reports, clinically relevant review articles, letters to the editor, and health/medical news or points of view. Brad is Dr. Stoll's 27th Ph.D. student.

Dr. Stoll completed an IRB review for the University of Idaho on the new approval portal. IRB is Institution Review Board which evaluates research projects for human subjects at the University. Dr. Stoll is the College of Education Representative.

Dr. Stoll serves as newsletter editor of the International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. As editor, she compiles three newsletters per year. She submitted the March Newsletter on March 23, 2014. <http://iaps.net/newsletter/> IAPS is committed to stimulate, encourage, and promote research, scholarship, and teaching in the philosophy of sport and related practices. As a global organization, IAPS has members from Asia, Europe, South America, North America, Australia, and Africa.

Center for ETHICS* at the University of Idaho offers study, intervention, outreach, consultation, and leadership in developing and advancing the theory, knowledge and understanding of character education including moral and ethical reasoning, moral development, ethical leadership, and ethical application. The Director of the Center is Dr. Sharon Kay Stoll http://www.educ.uidaho.edu/center_for_ethics Newsletter is on hiatus; but weekly or twice monthly updates will be sent out to keep our supporters abreast of what is occurring at the Center.
