

Ethical Theory and Honor in Competition and Sport

RIGHT WRONG

The Center for ETHICS* at the University of Idaho offers study, intervention, outreach, consultation, and leadership in developing and advancing the theory, knowledge and understanding of character education including moral and ethical reasoning, moral development, ethical leadership, and ethical application. The Director of the Center for ETHICS* is Dr. Sharon Kay Stoll.

Phi Kappa Phi

Dr. Stoll is the President of Phi Kappa Phi, Chapter 79 of the University of Idaho. In 1897 at the University of Maine, ten senior students, two faculty members, and the school president created an honor society that was different from the few others then in existence—one that recognized and honored excellence in all academic disciplines. Under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann, the group formed the Lambda Sigma Eta Society, which was later renamed Phi Kappa Phi from the initial letters of the Greek words forming its adopted motto: Philosophia Krateito Photôn, "Let the love of learning rule humanity." Phi Kappa Phi's mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others." On Thursday November 13, 2014; Phi Kappa Phi at Idaho initiated 29 members. Dr. Stoll as president presided over the initiation.

Julie Latrell, doctoral student in the Center, was initiated into Phi Kappa Phi as a graduate student.

International Journal of Coaching Science Review

Dr. Stoll was invited to sit as a reviewer by the Secretary General of the International Journal of Coaching Science (IJCS). The Journal is published twice per year (January and July). Topics may comprise a wide variety of fields relevant to coaching, including psychology, pedagogy, management, marketing, sociology, policy, governance, biomechanics, and physiology. The journal encourages the integration of research and practice in the field.
