

The Center for ETHICS* at the University of Idaho offers study, intervention, outreach, consultation, and leadership in developing and advancing the theory, knowledge and understanding of character education including moral and ethical reasoning, moral development, ethical leadership, and ethical application. The Director of the Center for ETHICS* is Dr. Sharon Kay Stoll.

Ethical Theory and Honor in Competition and Sport

New Beginnings

PhD Candidate Brad Dieter will begin a new job as a Biomedical Research Fellow for Sacred Heart Research November 1st. He will be joining a research team that combines medical research in diabetic nephropathy at Sacred Heart and University of Washington/Washington State University Medical Sciences.

Quest

Dr. Stoll, as a member of the review board for Quest, finished a review this week. Quest is the leading scholarly journal for professionals in kinesiology & physical education in higher education today. Noted scholars in our field write about challenging issues and concerns facing professionals in higher education crossing disciplinary boundaries. Interdisciplinary perspectives are encouraged. Quest's primary purpose is to publish manuscripts that address issues and concerns relevant and meaningful to kinesiology & physical education in higher education.

Athletic Management Magazine

PhD student Kevin Bryant published an article in Athletic Management Magazine titled: Fundraising: It takes a community.

Bryant, K. (2014, August/September). Fundraising: It takes a community. Athletic Management, 26(5), 52-57.

International Outreach

We received inquiries from two international sources this week. One was a Brazilian student requesting further information about our sport philosophy education programs. The second was a Master's student from Singapore's National Institute of Education desiring to use the Hahm Beller Values Choice Inventory (HBVCI) in his research project.
