

Ethical Theory and Honor in Competition and Sport

RIGHT WRONG

The Center for ETHICS* at the University of Idaho offers study, intervention, outreach, consultation, and leadership in developing and advancing the theory, knowledge and understanding of character education including moral and ethical reasoning, moral development, ethical leadership, and ethical application. The Director of the Center for ETHICS* is Dr. Sharon Kay Stoll.

Aubrey Shaw, Dr. Stoll's 38th doctoral student, has accepted an invitation to become a member of the President's Diversity Counsel on Campus Culture for Continuous Improvement at the University of Idaho. This committee is one of six committees of its campus at the university.

Aubrey Shaw, Dr. Stoll's 38th doctoral student, has accepted an invitation to submit a proposal to the 2017 SHAPE America "by you, for you" webinar series. During a recent review of submitted convention proposals, Aubrey's submission, Disabilities, Play, and Possibilities, was identified as a topic that would benefit society in a webinar format.

Dr. Stoll and members of the center research team (Dr. Jennifer Beller, Washington State University, P. VanMullen, Lewis-Clark State College, Kevin Bryant, Ph.D. candidate, and Marcis Fennell, Ph.D. Student, received word that their Chapter: Leadership – The Act of Serving, with InTech Open has been published. InTechOpen is the publisher of the world's largest collection of open access books covering the fields of Science, Technology and Medicine. With a goal to provide free online access to research since 2004, InTechOpen has published 2,669 books and 44,852 scientific works by 93,150 international scientists

Stoll, S.K., Beller, J.M., VanMullen, P., Bryant, K., and Fennell, M. (2017). Leadership the Act of Serving. In Leadership. InTechOpen.

Up Coming Events

Dr. Stoll's 37th doctoral student, Marcis Fennell, will be guest lecturing at the University of Central Florida to two undergraduate Intro to Sport Business and Diversity courses within the DeVos program on November 2nd 2016.

Dr. Stoll's 37th doctoral student, Marcis Fennell, will be attending the North American Society for the Sociology of Sport annual national convention in Tampa Bay, FL on November 2nd-5th, 2016.