

Ethical Theory and Honor in Competition and Sport

RIGHT WRONG

The Center for ETHICS* at the University of Idaho offers study, intervention, outreach, consultation, and leadership in developing and advancing the theory, knowledge and understanding of character education including moral and ethical reasoning, moral development, ethical leadership, and ethical application. The Director of the Center for ETHICS* is Dr. Sharon Kay Stoll.

Dr. Stoll's 38th doctoral student, Aubrey Shaw, has received acceptance for a paper she submitted for the University of Idaho's Women's Leadership Conference on March 30, 2017. The paper is titled, Leadership for Women with Impairments.

Dr. Stoll, along with Dr. Heather VanMullem, Lisa Brown, Dr. Stoll's 36th doctoral student, and master's degree student, Nicole Ballestero, have submitted a book chapter for the book, Perception of Beauty, edited by Martha Levine Book. The chapter titled, Beauty and the Beast: The struggles of women athletes, has been accepted and will be published this year. The chapter is now under review.

Stoll, S.K., VanMullem, H., Ballestero, N., Brown, L. (accepted for 2017). Beauty and the Beast: The struggles of women athletes. Book Chapter, Perception of Beauty, Martha Levine Book editor.

Dr. Stoll sits on the review board for Quest and submitted a review of an article. Quest's primary purpose is to publish manuscripts 1) that address issues and concerns relevant and meaningful to the field of kinesiology; 2) that are original research reports that address empirical questions that are contextualized within higher education and hold significance to a broad range of faculty and administrators in kinesiology; and 3) that provide a review of literature and/or research of interest to one or more sub-disciplines in kinesiology. Both theoretical and practice-based articles are considered. Quest serves a broad readership that includes academicians, teachers and administrators by providing a public forum for scholarly and creative thought about the profession.

Dr. Stoll and her 37th doctoral student, Marcis Fennell, have collected, analyzed, and sent out data from Fingerlakes Community College for a study that accesses the moral development of collegiate student athletes.

Upcoming Events

Dr. Stoll, in collaboration with Kevin Bryant, Dr. Stoll's 33rd doctoral student, and Dr. Jennifer Beller, Dr. Stoll's 2nd doctoral student, will present a poster at SHAPE America Research Consortium in Boston, MA on March 15, 2017. The presentation is titled, Principled Reasoning of HS Athletic Directors: A social perspective.

Dr. Stoll, in collaboration with Dr. Jennifer Beller, Dr. Stoll's 2nd doctoral student, and master's student, Brock Morris, will present a poster at SHAPE America Research Consortium in Boston, MA on March 15, 2017. The presentation is titled, Constraints to Participation in Collegiate Intramural Sports.

Marcis Fennell, Dr. Stoll's 37th doctoral student, in collaboration with a research team within the College of Education, will present a poster at SHAPE America Research Consortium in Boston, MA on March 15, 2017. The presentation is titled, Perception of PEP Grant Influences on CSPAP Implementation.