

THIS WEEK AT THE CENTER FOR ETHICS*

Friday, February 29, 2007

- Dr. Stoll interviewed by New York Times, Atlanta Journal Constitution, and Orlando Centennial this week about Roger Clemens and HGH/Doping?
- Finishing touches on Grant Contract with WWC - $84,000.
- Dr. Stoll and Dr. Beller traveled to Colorado Springs over Valentine's day and participated in the Clean Sport Alliance, supported and developed by United States Anti-Doping Agency. They were the only academicians at the conclave; the meeting was attended by CEOs and administrators from world and North American sport governing bodies. The Clean Sport Alliance's goal is to develop a unified voice against the use of doping in all levels of sport.
- Sport Servant leadership online CEU course. One of the first of its kind in the US is focused toward improving moral reasoning and servant leadership behavior in football coaches in the US. Endorsed by the American Football Coaches Organization, the largest governing body for US football; the CEU program has just had its first coach finish the course.
- Three external universities and one professional sport team have solicited our advice and help in doing research in moral reasoning and moral development, Manhattan College, Gonzaga University, Jeff Friday from the Baltimore Ravens fitness columnist, and Northcentral University.
- New curriculum for Atlanta Braves development program is in final stages of review by the Braves.
- Reviewed and critiqued the High School Player Development Character Development 2007 program for the National Football League.
- Matt Hellman, graduate assistant with the Center, won approval from Lewis Clark State college to do a moral reasoning intervention program/study/ and research with the NAIAA Championship Baseball Team.
- Justin Barnes and Dr. Stoll met with Dean Rowland about the development of a statewide CEU character education program directed toward the State of Idaho Code of Ethics for Teachers.
- Student Advising and Research outside of Center
  - Four letters of recommendation were written this week for undergraduate and graduate students as they strive toward advanced degrees or job opportunities.
  - Dr. Stoll, as a committee member, sat for the Ph.D. Defense of Michelle Hsiu-chenliui.
  - Dr. Stoll, as a committee member, sat for a proposal meeting for Clinton Culp.