

THIS WEEK AT THE CENTER FOR ETHICS*

Friday, November 6, 2009

Conrad Breitbach

- Conrad Breitbach, master's graduate under Dr. Stoll, is at Galveston College, Galveston, TX, and coordinator of the physical education program. Under his tutelage, the two year physical education program has won acceptance of his student's credits into surrounding area Universities. He and his daughter, Mary, age 5, lost their home to Hurricane Ike in 2008, but they have bounced back and have returned to their reconstructed home. cbreitba@gc.edu

Lynda J. Cochran Sperazza, Ph.D.

- Dr. Stoll's 13th doctoral student (2006) was recently featured in a news release on her insightful book on the Baby Boomer Generation. "The core of Sperazza's research focuses on the baby boomers in terms of leisure values and how to apply the philosophy behind programming for generational leisure activities". Dr. Sperazza's book stems from her Ph.D. Dissertation, A Philosophical and Ethical Examination of Practices in Developing Leisure Program Guidelines Using the Baby Boomer Cohort.

Susan Steele, current Ph.D. Student

- Susan is the Volunteer Coordinator of Service Learning at West Park Elementary. Susan is hoping to use her experience and knowledge in service learning to develop her dissertation research project. West Park was recently informed that it has been chosen for a site visit by the Northwest Association of Accredited Schools about West Park's Volunteerism program. Susan is in charge of seeking out, training and keeping track of community and university student/staff volunteers and university service learning students at West Park..

References Out

- Dr. Stoll wrote online letters of reference for students applying to graduate education programs, Katie Colvin.

Up Coming Events

- Thesis Defense for MohdAsmadzy Ahmad Basra, November 18, 2p.m. Asmadzy's thesis title: The effects of an outdoor adventure program on the self-esteem of Malaysian young adults enrolled in a 5-day outdoor adventure program".
- Dr. Stoll has been invited by Phi Kappa Phi to attend the national convention in August of 2010, all expenses paid, to represent the University of Idaho Chapter as an outstanding chapter of merit. Dr. Stoll is president of Phi Kappa Phi, Chapter 79.
- DR. Jennifer M. Beller – affiliate member of the Center and Associate Professor at Washington State University, has been asked to speak at the Fourth Annual Pacific Lutheran University Wang Center for Global Education 2010 International Symposium Understanding the World Through Sports and Recreation Thursday and Friday March 4 and 5, 2010. Dr. Beller will be speaking on the intersection between performance enhancing drugs in sport and the use of performance enhancing measures by the boomer generation.