

. THIS WEEK AT THE CENTER FOR ETHICS*

Friday, November 8, 2008

- Sport Servant Leadership for Coaches

- A new intervention for NAIA coaches has gone online this week. The intervention, educational program is designed to support the mission and values of the NAIA Champions of Character program. Developed by Doctoral Candidate, Pete VanMullem, presently 44 coaches have agreed to do the study.

- Data out at Center

- Data went out to Atlanta Braves Baseball team.

- Doctoral defenses set

- Dr. Stoll is a committee member for Greg Venema, (Chair Roger Scott) from Idaho Falls Leadership Program. The title of his defense set for December 4 is: INSIGHTS ON LEARNING IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION: A COLLECTIVE CASE STUDY OF FEEDBACK FROM BYU-IDAHO RELIGION STUDENTS AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATORS,
- Dr. Stoll is a committee member for Stephanie Kerr, (Chair Grace GocKarp. Her defense is set for December 12. Her topic is weight training for high school girls and its effect on personal growth.

- References out

- Dr. Stoll sent letter of Reference for David Brunner as he sets employment in higher education, University of Kentucky.

- Text out to Publisher

- Golf and Philosophy, edited by Andy Wible, has gone to the publisher. Dr. Stoll and Dr. Beller has a chapter title: Golf and Moral Reasoning.

- Graduate Students Present in Classes

- Matthew Hellman was a guest lecturer at Washington State University in WSU 400, Sport Management. Matthew's presentation was titled: Modern Trends in Professional Sport.
- David Brunner, doctorate candidate, was a guest lecturer in HPRD 210 at Idaho and presented on: Wholism: Teaching the body to take care of the mind, when the mind tires of teaching the body.

- International Association of Philosophy of Sport

- Dr. Stoll is the newsletter editor of IAPS. She has held office of president and continues as editor. This week marked the 25th newsletter edited and placed on line, October, 2008. Beginning in 2001, Dr. Stoll has edited a newsletter for IAPS three times a year. The newsletter is the official news source for IAPS, the largest international body of sport philosophers in the world with members from all continents except, Africa and Antarctic.