Blog Out

- Blog went out this week on energy drinks. Linked to over 400 swimming coaches for information.

Interview by Feagen Leadership Conference.

- Dr. Stoll is involved in a long term interview with Feagen Leadership Conference, Duke University, to possibly present with in October at a leadership program for 250 physicians.

CEU finished

- Todd Davis of Upson-Lee High School, Georgia, finished his CEU, received a certificate of completion for the CEU, Letter to principal, and press release. Three Continuing Education Units are given by the University of Idaho after an individual finishes the 30 hour education program in Sport Servant Leadership. The online program is endorsed by the American Football Coaches Association.

Grant Won

- Dr. Jennifer M. Beller and her graduate student Elaine Wood received a $1960.00 grant from the Washington Education Research Association for a study entitled "The Impact of Growth Models on AYP Subgroup Accountability" which is her dissertation study. They will be examining test data from a large school district in Washington using a Growth Models approach. Governor Gregoire is very interested in using growth models as a way of tracking student learning and the impact of education so it may have an impact at the state level. Dr. Beller is an affiliate with the Center and Dr. Stoll's second doctoral student.

Reference Out

- Dr. Stoll wrote letter of recommendation for an undergraduate student and DI athlete to attend graduate school at University of Idaho.

Up Coming Events
