This Week at the Center for ETHICS*

Friday, June 13, 2008

- Kim Robertello, one of our new Ph.Ds, was awarded a Clinical Assistant Professorship at Washington State University in the Program of Kinesiology, in the Department of Educational Leadership and Counseling Psychology. She will be working with students in athletic training, movement studies, and health and fitness.
- David Brunner, one of our doc students at the Center, was a hero this week. Four teenagers attempted to steal the keys to the Center, and David ran them down, and retrieved the stolen article. Pretty good fitness level, when the four teenagers had a 3-4 minute head start!
- Texas Women's University contacted the Center this week about data on moral reasoning in athlete populations especially among DI, DII, and DIII.
- Dr. Stoll was emailed this week by a former CORE Discovery student, who left Idaho to enroll at the Naval Academy. Ojevwe Avworo was a basketball player here at Idaho and transferred. He said in his email, "I just finished my plebe year at the naval academy and I would like to say that you influenced my decision to attend this institution."
- It appears the book proposal "Facilitating moral growth of college students: Theory, assessment, and practice" submitted to Routledge - Taylor and Francis Group is in its final review. Dr. Stoll and Dr. Beller are two submitting authors of this text to be edited by Debora Liddell of the University of Iowa and Diane Cooper of the University of Georgia.
- Pete VanMull submitted his materials for Advancement to Doctoral Candidacy. Congrats Pete on the next step to the Ph.D. Pete's research is about intervention education for NAIA coaches.
- David Brunner worked a Vandal football camp this week for 7-10 year olds.
- Coming events:
  - Training with WWC is scheduled for June 23 in Athens, GA, presently we have approximately 15 new schools scheduled, plus approximately 30 returning schools.
  - Dr. Stoll will be visiting Georgia Military College for a workshop on June 24 in Milledgeville, GA. Georgia Military has been a member of the WWC family for approximately five years. Georgia Military College is a public-independent educational institution, comprised of a junior college and a separate preparatory school (grades 6-12), whose mission and purpose is to produce educated citizens by providing junior college students with a liberal arts based two-year undergraduate curriculum, by providing selected college students with ROTC training, and by providing preparatory school students an inclusive college preparatory curriculum that includes a military training component—all in an environment conducive to the holistic development of the intellect and character of its students.

- Dr. Stoll will be traveling with Dr. Beller to Montana State to do workshop with football team, July 23 and 24.
